
Solid: couplings tested on real data. Dashed: demonstration only (no public paired data). One uncertainty principle: conformal calibration in every module.